62 Pints Of Blood Donated Here Saturday

Many thanks to the Appomattox Lions Club and to the blood donor committee headed by Rev. W. M. Black and Rev. T. Lupton Simpson of Pamplin, for securing 92 signed donors and 22 walk-ins for the Blood-mobile at Appomattox, Saturday, April 19.

It is human nature to think mostly of empty bottles returned to the Roanoke Blood Center but down-right gratitude demands thanks for the pint bottles which were filled with life-saving blood Saturday. Six-ty-nine citizens of the county were screened and five of them rejected. Those sixty-nine willing donors of blood are worthy of highest commendation. To give one's blood is an act of real heroism and sacrifice which natural illness and the exigencies of the present lots of blood in Korea and it involves collisions on our car-teeming highways make imperative.

We are also appreciative of Volunteer Services headed by Mrs. Bessie V. Caldwell which secured so many personal workers for so many duties connected with the visit of the blood-mobile to Appomattox Saturday. The ladies of the Methodist Church, assisted by several persons of other Churches, were organized by Mrs. Mitchell Lewis and were highly praised by the personel of the Roanoke Blood Center for their splendid canteen service.

Naturally the persons who deserve the most thanks for services in connection with a bloodmobile visit are the donors of blood themselves. One cannot praise them too highly and especially those who give a pint or blood a number of times each year. Relatives who have loved ones in Korea or in hospitals in our state needing transfusions or apt to be in need of blood are the most awakened blood donors. For instance, Mrs. Irene Thompson of Appomattox County, gave her tenth pint of blood Saturday. She has a son in Korea. Daniel Thompson is now in an army post in this country but Mrs. Thompson still feels the desperate need to give her blood for others in Korea or elsewhere.

Wage-Earner Death Rates Are Declining

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Contrary to the tradition of death and disease as an aftermath of great wars, mortality among the wage-earner population of the United States has improved materially since the end of World War II. During the five years since the conflict ended the death rate has dropped by one eighth.

This is based upon the experience among the industrial policyholders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, as reported by Dr. Louis I. Dublin, second vice-president and statistician.

Among the millions of policyholders the adjusted death rate declined from 529.2 per 100,000 in 1946 to 462.2 in 1950, and the average length of life has increased by practically three years, reaching 68.3 years in 1950.

Favorable Trend

"The recent spectacular improvement in mortality and gain in average length of life for the insured group is a continuation of the favorable trend of the past 30 years," Dr. Dublin commented. "Both sexes have benefited, although the trend has been more favorable for females than for males. The death rate for females decreased 16 percent from 1946 to 1950, compared with 9 percent for males.

"Policyholders at every period of life shared in the improvement in mortality between 1946 and 1950, the greatest gains being made at the younger ages. Reductions averaged about one third at the ages under 25 years — remarkably large decreases for so short a period.

"More impressive yet is the progress made in little more than two decades. At ages 1 to 4 years the drop in mortality amounted to more than 80 percent between 1926-1930 and 1950. At the same time, decreases of about one half or more were recorded among males under 45 years of age and among females under age 65. Even at ages 65-74 years, the death rate for males fell by one quarter and for females by more than one third."

Tuberculosis Factor

One of the outstanding features of the postwar mortality record, according to Dr. Dublin, is the accelerated decline in the death rate from tuberculosis. Many factors have contributed to this, he pointed out, including a general rise in our standard of living, early case finding through mass X-ray examinations, and advances in the medical and surgical treatment of tuberculosis patients.

By the close of World War II, Dr. Dublin stated, considerable progress had already been made in the control of pneumonia through the use of the sulfa drugs and penicillin.

"Since then even more effective antibiotics, such as aureomycin and terramycin, have been developed," he observed, "with the result that the death rate from pneumonia and influenza among the Industrial policyholders was cut nearly one half between 1946 and 1950. Between 1926-1930 — before the newer methods of treatment had been introduced — and 1950, the death rate fell almost 90 percent. Further gains are in prospect, but ultimate victory over these diseases waits upon the development of reliable vaccines which can be widely used."

AN ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE PUBLIC

I had planned to go back in business this year. But so far, I have been unable to secure a suitable location.

In the meantime, if you want to rent or buy a house, come to see me at my home, Oak Street and Lee-Grant Ave., or Dial 2702.

I also have some desirable building lots on either side of Route 691, just outside the corporate limits. Telephone and electric service available, water and mail route pending.

Sometimes I have some ready cash, with which I can help you finance your electric range, refrigerator, washing machine and a few items in furniture.

Come to see me—I might be able to save you some money.

Your friend, s looks like summer has come, n't it? This hot weather has ught all the girls out in their mmer clothes. It has also brought all the tennis fans in school. re are so many that our three rts can't take care of them. Of se, everybody takes turns so we get a chance to play.

The Future Business Leaders of erica and the Tri-Hi-Y girls have rned from their trips to Richond.

The representatives to the model neral Assembly spent their week-in learning about the governnt of Virginia. They spoke for s and against them, and they roduced bills. They learned more two days than they could have rned in class in a year. All of time was not spent in work there was a banquet and a social gathering to furnish recreation. All of the girls and boys agreed it was the nicest week-end they ever spent.

The Assembly program Wednesday was conducted by the Spanish Classes. There was singing, dancing, and information about the Spanish-speaking countries. The first year students did the Mexican Hat dance and both classes sang Spanish songs. It was a very colorful and entertaining program.

The Monogram Club will present its annual talent show Friday night. In connection with the show there is a contest to choose a "Miss Appomattox High School." This contest is now going on and the winner will be announced the night of the talent show.

The Senior Class is sponsoring a paper drive this week. The drive will begin Friday afternoon and continue through Saturday. All you kids gather up all the old papers you can find and have them ready when the trucks come to your house. You'll be helping the Senior Class, and be getting rid of the old papers at the same time.

The Tri-Hi-Y held its regular meeting Monday morning. The program consisted of reports from the representatives who attended the model General Assembly.

This ends my column for this week but I would like to remind you not to forget the talent show and the paper drive. So long until next week.

CLOVER HILL, April 22.- The Clover Hill Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. L. E. Conner on Tuesday, April 15, at 7:30 P. M.The demonstration on covered belts, buckles and buttons was given by Mrs. B. G. Anderson. Mantle arrangements of spring flowers was also demonstrated by one of the leaders. The next meeting will be held in May at the home of Mrs. D. E. Torrence.

We are glad to report that Mrs. W. F. Gills and Mrs. Harry Jenkins are much improved after recent illness.

Mrs. D. E. Torrence is also better at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Keys and daughter were visiting the Twyman Baldwin's on Sunday.

Little Allen Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Webb, has been the center of attention in his family after a recent tonsilectomy. Among his many visitors on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Twyman Baldwin and Kenneth and Nancy Pat. These two families also went to the Forest Hatchery on Tuesday of this week-end and the children were entranced with the baby ducklings.

Mrs. Wesley Franklin and two children have moved into the T. J. Conner farm home. We wish to welcome them, and also Mr. and Mrs. James Gowin into our community. The James Gowin's have just completed a lovely home on Clover Hill Road.

Everyone on our road seems beauty conscious this spring.

Dowell J. Howard, Superintendent of Public Instruction in Virginia."

Official delegates to the convention from Appomattox Chapter of FBLA were Nina Barlow and Peggy Smith. Other members attending were Loretta Doss, Sylvia Burks and Miss Wilma Allen, sponsor.

After the second general session there were group meetings which discussed the following topics: Improving FBLA through activities that develop business knowledge and skill; Improving FBLA through Social and Promotional Activities; Improving FBLA through financial Activities, and Improving FBLA through School and Community Activities. These discussions were of interest to everyone.

During the evening, there was a banquet and dance at the Roof Garden in the John Marshall Hotel. Music was by Jay Repine's Orchestra.

Home Agent's Notes

(By Mrs. B. G. Anderson)

More about the Appomattox County Nutrition Study:

Why the study was made: Food and nutrition are basic factors in the health and welfare of rural families. For this reason food and nutrition education are important parts of the Extension program. The study was planned to get specific information on home production, preservation, preparation and serving of essential foods.

Two hundred homemakers in the county, except those within the town limits of Appomattox and Pamplin were interviewed.

Of the 200 homemakers, two-thirds were white and one - third Negro. A ten per cent list sample of Home Demonstration Club members and a ten per cent sample of non-cooperators were interviewed. This nutrition study was not a Home Demonstration Club member survey, as less than 20 per cent of the homemakers interviewed belong to a home demonstration club, but represented a few homes in practically every section of the county.

How good are our diets?

From the report published a few weeks ago, you will recall that the food essentials found to be most lacking were:

Vitamin C: tomatoes, citrus fruit, raw vegetables, and fruits.

Calcium: Milk and milk products.

Vitamin A Foods: Green and yellow vegetables.

Let's plan our gardens to meet these demands.

More next week.

Women's Clubs Sponsor Contest

PORTSMOUTH, April 23—Miss Georgianna C. Woodhouse, Junior Vice-President of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs, announced today that the Junior clubs will cosponsor with the Jamestown Corporation a "Common Glory" essay contest open to all Virginia high school students.

Cash prizes totaling $100 will be awarded the best essays on "The Significance of The Common Glory's Message in Today's International Crisis." Paul Green, the Pulitzer prize-winning playwright of "The Common Glory," will personally contribute prizes of $50, $30 and $20 for the three top entries on the significance of the parallels between the problems of those years and those our nation faces today. An all-expense-paid, free tour to Williamsburg and "The Common Glory" will also be awarded to district winners, and the best entry from each school will receive a Commendation Scroll of Honor signed by Paul Green.

Miss Woodhouse said that contest rules, programs and other reference material have been sent to every high school and junior high school in the state. The three best essays from each district will then be eligible for entry in the state finals for judging by a committee to be announced later.

Deadline for individual entries is April 30, and winners to be entered in the seven district contests must be postmarked on or before May 7.

The sixth season of Paul Green's symphonic drama will run July 1 through August 31, with performances every night of the week except Monday, at Lake Matoaka Amphitheatre, Williamsburg. "The Common Glory" is produced in cooperation with the Commonwealth of Virginia by the non-stock, nonprofit Jamestown Corporation, formed to educate through the drama the people of America in the history of Virginia.
